

George Mann & Julius Margolin

Two brothers, 45 years apart...

"Young and Younger"

These guys have been stirring up trouble, musically at least, since 1999.

Here's a list of their CDs:

Young and Younger (1999): The first album, 14 songs of workers and struggle... includes "Deportee," "Hard Traveling," "The Preacher and the Slave" and 10 originals, very folkly and mostly acoustic.

Miles to Go Before We Sleep (2000): 13 songs, released right before the 2000 election. Includes "Hobo's Lullaby," "We Shall Not Be Moved," "Don't Let Age Get You Down," "Percy Sang" and "We Demand a Living Wage."

Hail to the Thief! (2001): The first collection of anti-Bush songs... 15 in all, with Anne Feeney, Chris Chandler, Jon Fromer, Francisco Herrera, and more!

Just A Few Bad Apples (2003): Their favorite! "Dark as a Dungeon," "Hard Times Come Again No More," "Come and Go With Me to That Land," "Your Money and Your Power," "This Beautiful Child," "A Union Man," "Portadown" and more... A great set of songs and musicianship.

Hail to the Thief II (2004): New songs against Bush! 20 great songs by Tom Paxton, Kim & Reggie Harris, Utah Phillips, Amy Martin, Faith Petric and more. Hilarious!

Hail to the Thieves, Vol. III (2006): The latest compilation. Billy Bragg, Utah Phillips, Anne Feeney, Chuck Brodsky, Colleen Kattau and many more, 20 tracks in all!

Into the Fire (2008): George's first solo CD in 10 years. Twelve powerful, serious songs: "I Remember Winter," "Pray for Me," "I'm Chipping Away at This War," "This Government of Shame," "Rest, Papa Rest," and more.

Labor donated by union members

Performing a variety of original songs and favorites from the past century of folk music, George Mann and Julius Margolin combine social and labor history with songs and a dose of slapstick wherever they perform. From picket lines and union events to senior centers, cafés and concert settings, George and Julius have been singing and recording together since 1998. They have three CDs under their belts, 1999's "Young and Younger," "Miles to Go Before We Sleep" (2000), and 2003's "Just A Few Bad Apples," as well as three "Hail to the Thief" CD compilations. Two new projects, the documentary DVD "A Union Man" and George's solo CD "Into the Fire" were released in April 2008.
